The reduction potential and kinetics of an aryl group in the cytochrome P450BM-3 model compound N-(nitrobenzyl)sulfonamide (NBS). The reduction potential and kinetics of the electron and proton transfer reactions of 2-nitrobenzenesulfonyl (NBS) in cytochrome P450BM-3 have been studied to clarify the roles of the protein in these reactions. The electron-transfer potential was found to be -0.25 V and the electron transfer constant to be 5.0 x 10(9) M-1 s-1. The potential and constant for the H2O2/NBS reaction were -0.48 and 3.0 x 10(6) M-1 s-1. (1)H NMR studies showed that the nitrobenzene ring undergoes a hydride shift during the reduction of NBS. Oxidation of the p-nitrophenol, which was formed during the reduction of NBS, was also studied. It was found that the apparent second-order rate constant for the reaction was increased by the presence of a substrate.Q: What is the meaning of "credit card" in this context? Source This is a short story in which the protagonist fails to answer a phone call for his girlfriend and after finally answering he receives a card from her saying: "You didn't answer, so I called the credit card". What is the meaning of "credit card" in this context? A: A credit card is a prepaid card which may or may not be transferable; it holds the account balance and can be used to make a purchase by swiping it through a special reader at a point of sale. From Dictionary.com: credit card 1. a card that entitles its bearer to a specified amount of credit (the holder's borrowing capacity), primarily for purchase or cash advances at a merchant's or retailer's automatic machine, hence, (as adj.) involving the borrowing of money for payment. I found this definition of "credit card" here: A credit card is a plastic card, either a card having a magnetic stripe or a card having a microchip in the chip and pin card. The difference between the two is that a chip and pin card requires a PIN code to be entered along with the card number. Q
